Yarn contained templates aligning with different reasons why people want to share moments in stories. How well or not well did the template choices in Yarn reflect the reasons you might want to share?

How did you feel about the visual design of the templates?

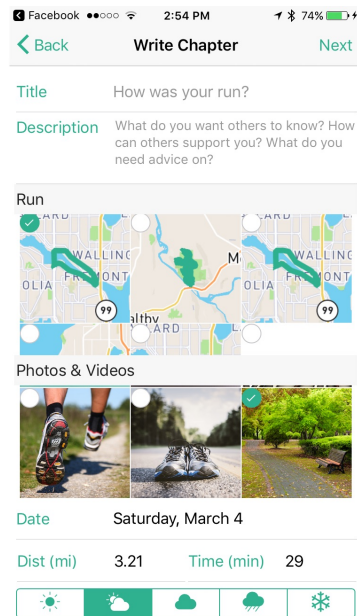

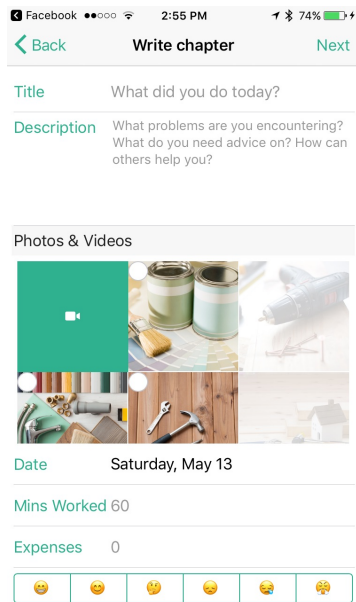

Were the template options sufficient? Are there other templates you would have liked?

Yarn automatically sized chapters based on how important it thought the chapter was. How well did Yarn's size choices correspond to how important chapters were to you?

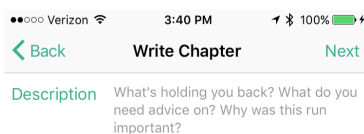

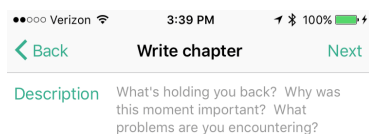

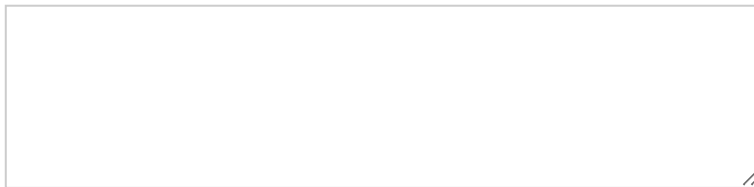

How did you feel about chapters being displayed at different sizes?

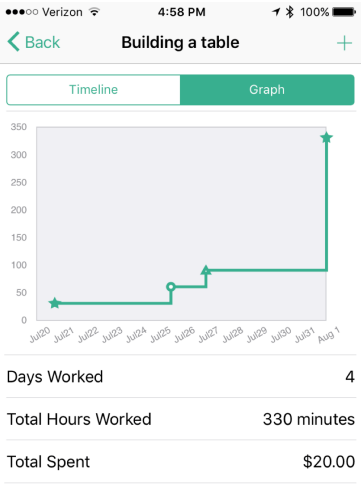

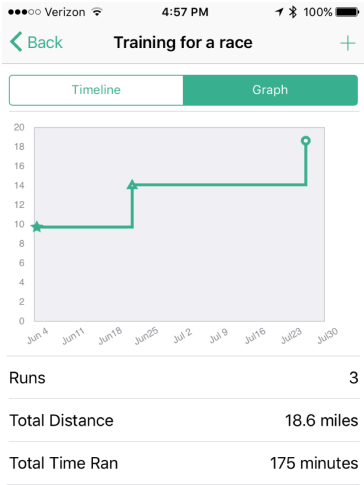

Yarn included a variety of entry fields, including photos, videos, runs, text, and time worked. Were there other fields you would have liked Yarn to include?

In the description field, Yarn included prompts for what someone might want to emphasize in a chapter. Did the prompts help when writing a description? Why or why not?

The graph view showed how your story progressed through distance ran or hours worked. Did you find the visualization useful? Why or why not?

Is there anything else you would like to tell us about your experience using Yarn?
