All interviews were semi-structured. We typically asked participants follow-up questions to understand more about participant's experiences and opinions.

Introductory Interview Script

Tell me a little bit about [your DIY project, the race you're training for]?

When did you start?

Who else is involved with it?

How often do you [do DIY projects, run races]?
What influences how often you [work on DIY projects, train for races]?

Have you done other similar [DIY projects, races]? How did those go?

When you've previously done [DIY projects, trained for races], have you told other people about what you were doing?
How did you do so?
What was the response like?

What are you hoping Yarn will help you do?

Final interview script

How was your experience with Yarn?

How did you feel about the visual design?

How did you feel about the sharing features?

Templates

How well or not well did the templates align with the reasons you wanted to share?

Are there other templates you would have liked?

Tell me a little more about how you would want to customize templates.

Automatic sizing

How well did Yarn's size choices correspond to how important chapters were to you?

How would you design Yarn to automatically infer importance of moments?

Data types

Were there other fields you would have liked Yarn to include?

Description field

Did the prompts help when writing a description? Why or why not?

Graph view

Did you find the graph visualization of progress useful? Why or why not?