

Not asked to address additional comments.

I did find a small bug in my software that changed some of the N values reported in my population. I've updated the camera ready to ensure the appropriate values are used everywhere.