

Figure 1: Correlation of architecture scales. Dataset rankings are consistent when training 3B models (green) compared to 7B models (just as they were for 400M and 1B models).

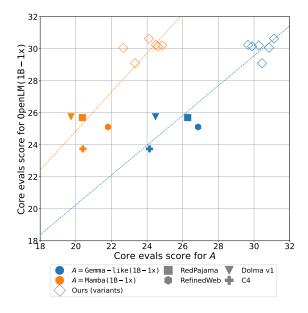

Figure 2: Correlation of architecture variants. Dataset rankings remain consistent when switching from our existing architecture to ones inspired by Gemma and Mamba. Our datasets still perform considerably better than existing baselines.